Book Description

24–11. David Carson (art director) and Pat Blashill (photographer), “Hanging at Carmine Street,” Beach Culture, a magazine focusing on West Coast watersports, 1991. Responding to the title of an editorial feature on a public swimming pool, Carson was inspired to “hang some type.”

My Description

I chose this image because I love the color scheme and it has all of my favorite colors, blues, greys, whites, beiges, etc! I also like the random scatter of the text and how it overlays the image and it gives it a cool vibe.
